12th Conference on Catastrophe Insurance in Asia

4-5 September 2014 • Hotel Indonesia Kempinski Jakarta, Indonesia

Asia's risk landscape is transforming rapidly with its vulnerability to natural calamities. To date, the region has borne the brunt of natural catastrophe losses – of the global US$270 billion of economic losses to natural disasters in 2011, 90% was in Asia. In China, Nat CAT costs nearly doubled from 2012 to US$68.69 billion in 2013. Experts have highlighted that insured claims from catastrophes worldwide are increasing dramatically and this is more so in Asia.

With growing risk awareness coupled with rising asset values, demand for catastrophe insurance and reinsurance is ever increasing. Managing CAT risks has become an increasingly important part of the insurance industry, and doing it well has become a key determinant of success. How can the insurance industry manage the risk exposures effectively to stay ahead of the competition? Is there a science to measure these risk exposures accurately? Are modelling agencies living up to their promise?

This year, at the 12th Conference on Catastrophe Insurance in Asia, we will get up close and technical to look at ways to respond to what seems to be the new normal for Asian CATs, as well as efficient risk coping strategies to meet the ever increasing new risk horizon and demands for CAT covers.
