Today's complex financial markets demand revolutionary changes in speed and agility, and CFOs play a critical role in the vision, culture, leadership, decision-making and strategic direction of companies while restoring their financial health.

CFO today has to take the lead in business transformation around digital, big data, cyber, blockchain and now the undetermined impact of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. Add the threats of country lockdowns, the rise of InsurTechs and regulatory changes to the fold.

All these challenges and with new technologies surfacing in digitised finance, insurance and payment, how do CFOs innovate and navigate in a post-crisis world?

The 2021 Insurance CFO Summit will look at how the CFO risk agenda is transforming and what CFOs can do to arm themselves moving forward. What new skillsets are required in the new ecosystem? What are the global trends that are going to affect CFOs in Asia? How can CFOs evolve? What constitutes the new CFO vision and what are the new priorities?
