

CFO Insights: Navigating the COVID-19 Era

18 Jun 2020, Live Online, 3-5pm, Singapore time

Theme: "Is the current crisis distracting you from getting IFRS 17 ready?"

Today the CFO has to take the lead in the virtualisation of the organisation as well as business transformation around digital, liquidity, cyber, blockchain and now the undetermined impact of COVID-19. There are also additional threats and unknown dangers as countries start to lift their lockdowns coupled with the onset of InsurTech and regulatory changes. With all these challenges and new technologies surfacing in digitised finance and insurance – how do CFOs innovate and navigate the new world?

Asia Insurance Review has put together a virtual event on CFO Insights: Navigating the COVID-19 Era, to look at the impact of the COVID-19 crisis, IFRS17 and how the CFO risk agenda is changing globally!

Is the current crisis a distraction from getting IFRS17 ready? And how do CFOs get ready with all that uncertainty in the air while they are coping with the double whammy of underwriting losses and massive investment write downs? Where is the light at the end of this tunnel for CFOs?

Urgent issues to be discussed:

- CFO in the driver's seat in the pandemic
- C-Suite's role in the IFRS 17 compliance
- What help can be expected from regulators?
- How to survive in a continued low-interest-rate environment?
 - Resource allocation for cyber risks
- What will the new world financial order be post-crisis?

Join the sessions live and get the insights on 18 June!

Welcome Address by Chairman and Speaker of topic: Is There A COVID-19 Upside in Terms of IFRS 17 Implementation?

For many CFOs and their teams, the convergence of COVID-19 and IFRS 17 was akin to an insurance finance perfect storm. After 3+ months of grappling with the very different and challenging environment that had resulted from COVID-19, we now see some potential opportunities that could help insurers as they develop and implement IFRS 17 solutions. This presentation will explore potential areas of opportunity and benefit that the impact of COVID-19 could have on the implementation of IFRS 17.
